PATIENCE AND LONGSUFFERING

Summer seems to drag on and on, and with the calendar turning to September, we know Fall will be here soon. In our prayer life, it can seem like the situation we are praying for drags on and on too. It appears we are in a holding pattern waiting upon God to act.

The psalmist said, “Our soul waits for the Lord; He is our help and our shield” (Psalm 33:20). The biblical design of waiting for God is a positive image and considered a biblical virtue. The psalmist declares that we “wait and depend” upon the Lord for His deliverance and salvation. Deliverance is assured because His people are willing to depend on Him. Remaining in expectation, or waiting for the Lord, in our lives is necessary, according to the Scriptures, to receive the Lord’s blessing.

Again, we read in the Psalms, “Do not deliver me to the will of my adversaries; For false witnesses have risen against me, And such as breathe out violence. I would have lost heart, unless I had believed that I would see the goodness of the Lord In the land of the living. Wait on the Lord; Be of good courage, And He shall strengthen your heart; Wait, I say, on the Lord!” (Psalm 27:12–14)

God’s people are to be patient, and we see this in King David as he contemplated his vindication from God against his enemies; he tells himself to “wait for the Lord; be strong and let your heart take courage; wait for the Lord.”

In 2 Peter chapter 3, we learn something important about God and the passage of time. “But, beloved, do not forget this one thing, that with the Lord one day is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day. The Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some count slackness, but is longsuffering toward us, not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance.” (2 Peter 3:8–9)

God has a different perspective on time. He stands above time. When time is seen in light of eternity, a single day could be like a millennium, and a millennium could be viewed as a single day. God’s apparent delay in fulfilling the promise of the Second Coming is sometimes understood as a matter of His perspective on time versus humanity’s.

We live in a world of internet shopping and next-day delivery, a world of fast food and endless media blitzes. There is an old maxim, “patience is a virtue, which all admire, but few attain.” The Apostle Peter picks up on the Old Testament teaching of long-suffering. Long-suffering speaks of having the ability, even under severe provocation, not to lose one’s temper. Depending upon the context, it can also mean “to remain under” and “to stay put under.” It carries the meaning of remaining firm under tests and trials, bearing pain or trials without complaint, and having the self-control that keeps one from acting rashly even when suffering opposition or adversity. God is a great example of longsuffering; His patience in waiting for humanity to repent and come to Christ through faith is demonstrated in the Scriptures.

All of this applies to believers today; we must wait patiently for the Lord Jesus to correct injustices. We must wait on God when we are praying for guidance or making tough life decisions. Sometimes, it seems as if the Lord is not answering our prayers. But during those times, we need to remind ourselves that He is our Living God. He is with us at every moment. He is in control of all life, and He is working for our own good. He does all this because He loves us.

Be patient and trust the Lord.
